Executive Summary

United States

- This forecast is based on a modified version of S&P Global Market Intelligence's May 2024 control forecast for the U.S. economy. We have adjusted real gross domestic product (GDP) to be consistent with the Blue Chip "Consensus" GDP forecast for 2024 and 2025. We expect real GDP to increase 2.4% in 2024 and 1.8% in 2025, up from the 2.0% and 1.7% growth rates assumed in the February forecast. Our forecast for real GDP growth in 2026-29 is based on the most recent long term forecast from Blue Chip which was released in March 2024. We expect growth rates of 2.0%, 2.0%, 1.9%, and 1.8% in 2026 through 2029 which is very close to the 2.1%, 1.9%, 1.9%, and 1.8% rates in the February forecast.
- Our oil price forecast reflects the futures markets for the Brent (North Sea) oil price and West Texas Intermediate (WTI) benchmarks. This forecast was based on the Tuesday, May 14, 2024 closing prices for Brent and WTI futures. Oil prices are higher than in the February forecast. As in February, oil prices are expected to decline throughout the forecast. The latest futures prices indicate that the refiner acquisition price of crude oil will average $80 per barrel in the second quarter of 2024 compared to $72 in the February forecast. By the fourth quarter of 2029 the refiner acquisition price of crude is expected to average $64 per barrel, unchanged from the February forecast.
- National employment in May increased by 272,000 net jobs. Employment in March and April was revised down due to additional data and updated seasonal factors by a combined 15,000 jobs. Sectors with the largest job gains in May included healthcare (+68,000), professional and business services (+33,000), leisure and hospitality (+42,000) and government (+43,000). Sectors with declining employment in May included employment services (-16,000) and general merchandise retailing (-6,000).
- Two key measures of consumer confidence diverged in May. The University of Michigan (UM) consumer sentiment survey decreased by 8.1 points to 69.1 in May after decreasing by 2.2 points in April. Most of the decline in consumer sentiment reflected negative views on labor markets as consumers expect unemployment to increase and income growth to slow. The Conference Board index of consumer confidence increased by 4.5 points in May to 102.0. Survey results indicated that the increase in consumer confidence was due to improved assessments of the labor market and expectations about future business conditions, job availability and income.
- Initial claims for unemployment insurance increased by 8,000 to 229,000 (SA) in the week ending June 1st. The four-week moving average of initial claims decreased by 750 to 222,250.

- Industrial production was unchanged (+0.0%, SA) in April following a 0.1% increase in March. Industrial production was down 0.4% compared to its April 2023 level. New orders for core capital goods (i.e., durables excluding aircraft and military), which is a proxy for business investment, increased by 0.3% (SA) in April following a revised 0.1% decrease in March according to U.S. Census Bureau data. New orders for core capital goods were 1.2% above their April 2023 level.
- Residential construction data was mixed in April compared with March and both new and existing home sales were down. April housing starts increased by 5.7% (SA) compared to March but were 0.6% below their April 2023 level. Housing units authorized by building permits in April were 3.0% (SA) below their March level and 2.0% below their year-ago level. New home sales in April decreased by 4.7% (SA) compared to March and were 7.7% below their year-ago level. Existing home sales in April decreased by 1.9% (SA) compared to March and were also down 1.9% compared to April 2023. The seasonally adjusted Case-Shiller national home price index for March was 0.3% above its February level and 6.5% above its year-ago level.
- The major risks to the U.S. and Washington economies continue to be the impacts of elevated prices, high interest rates and geopolitical conflict.

Washington

- Washington job growth has been stronger than expected in the four months since the February forecast, although historical revisions have lowered the level of employment. Total seasonally adjusted nonfarm payroll employment increased 24,800 since December, which was 10,800 more than the 13,900 increase expected in the forecast. The construction sector increased by 4,700 jobs while manufacturing employment increased by 2,000 in the four-month period. Education and health services had the largest increase in the private service sector, gaining 6,500 jobs since December. The largest decline was in employment services with a loss of 5,400 jobs. Government employment increased by 8,300 primarily due to a 5,100 job gain in state government education. The combination of downward revisions to history and stronger than expected job growth have resulted in the level of employment being 12,200 lower than expected in the February forecast.
- After the grounding of the 737 Max and then the pandemic, Washington's aerospace employment declined from 89,600 at end of 2019 to a low of 66,700 in August 2021, a loss of 22,800 jobs. Since August 2021, the industry added back 15,600 jobs, bringing the level to 82,400 in April 2024. We expect aerospace employment to continue to expand into 2028, reaching a peak of 89,400 jobs. The forecast then calls for aerospace employment to level off and then slowly decline through the end of the forecast horizon in 2029.
- We expect a 1.5% increase in Washington employment this year, up from the 1.4% growth rate expected in the February forecast. We expect slower growth during the remainder of the forecast as the U.S economy slows. We expect Washington employment growth to average 1.0% per year in 2025 through 2029, up slightly from 0.9% in the previous forecast.

- Washington's unemployment rate has been trending upward. The unemployment rate remained at 4.8% in April from the month before, but up from a recent trough of 3.8% in June 2023. Labor force participation declined to 63.8% in April from 63.9% the month before and is down from the recent peak of 64.5% in June 2023.
- The preliminary June forecast has 2023 as the trough in the Washington unemployment rate at 4.1%. We expect the unemployment rate to peak at 4.8% this year, up from 4.4% in the February forecast. We expect the unemployment rate to trend down and reach 4.4% in 2029, up from 4.3% in the previous forecast.
- In March, after the forecast was complete, the U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA) released state personal income estimates for the fourth quarter of 2023. We have incorporated the new BEA estimates as well as additional Washington Quarterly Census of Employment and Wages (QCEW) data. Our current estimate of Washington personal income in the fourth quarter of 2023 was $13.6 million (0.0%) higher than in the February forecast. Wages and salaries were $1.3 billion (0.4%) higher than expected and nonwage income was $1.3 billion (0.4%) lower than expected.
- Our forecast for nominal personal income growth this year is 5.2%, down from 5.4% in the February forecast. Our new forecast for nominal personal income growth in 2025 through 2029 averages 5.7% per year, up from the 5.4% rate in the February forecast.
- Seattle-area home price growth is weakening. Home prices fell 0.1% in March, the third decrease in the past five months. Prior to this, Seattle home prices had increased for seven consecutive months. In comparison, the composite-20 index has increased in each of the past thirteen months. Seattle home prices in March were up 7.8% over the year while the composite-20 index was up 7.4% over the year.
- Seattle-area consumer price inflation continues to outpace the national average. From April 2023 to April 2024, the Seattle CPI rose 4.4% compared to the 3.4% increase in the U.S. City average index. U.S. Shelter costs in both Washington and the U.S. continue to outpace topline inflation, increasing 5.9% and 5.5% respectively. Core inflation (excluding food and energy) remains elevated. Seattle core CPI rose 4.9% in April compared to 3.6% for the U.S. City average.
- Washington exports declined 6.9% from the first quarter of 2023 to the first quarter of 2024. The decline was primarily due to a 19.7% drop in aerospace products and parts manufacturing. Excluding aerospace, Washington exports still declined 1.4% year over year in the first quarter of 2024. Exports of petroleum and coal products were once again strong, increasing 54.2% since last year.
- Washington car and truck sales declined for the second consecutive month in May. The seasonally adjusted number of new vehicle registrations decreased 2.1% in May from the month before to 271,700 (SAAR). Passenger car registrations fell 3.5% while light truck registrations increased 8.9%. The number of total registrations were down 4.1% over the year in May.

- Washington housing construction rebounded in the final month of the first quarter of 2024. A total of 38,000 units (SAAR) were permitted in first quarter, up from 34,500 units (SAAR) in the fourth quarter. The increase in the first quarter was due to 47,400 units (SAAR) being permitted in March. This increase was primarily due to a large number of apartment buildings being permitted. Permits in the first quarter consisted of 20,600 single-family units and 17,400 multi-family units. The February forecast assumed 38,700 units for the first quarter, consisting of 21,200 single-family units and 17,500 multi-family units. Permits fell in April to 35,200 units (SAAR) on weaker multi-family activity.
- The preliminary June forecast calls for housing permits of 37,500 this year, up from the trough in 2023 of 37,100 units. We expect housing permits to grow through 2029 reaching 45,300 units. The previous forecast called for total housing permits of 41,400 units this year, reaching 45,600 units in 2029.
